

Ralph Freese

University of Hawai'i, USA

Linear algorithm on computing the congruences of finite algebra

We will discuss an algorithm that computes principal congruences of algebras in linear time. The algorithm is based on a study of data structures of computer scientists from the 1970's.